Code Poets is a bespoke software development company. We collaborate with entrepreneurial scientists and create solutions for big pharma companies. We specialize in projects within life science, bioinformatics and cheminformatics industries, as well as projects related to fintech and blockchain. We support our clients with drug discovery solutions and create custom lab and biomedical software.

We believe that agility and effective communication is crucial when it comes to successful collaboration. That's why we paid attention to these qualities when looking for a business partner who would take care of the accounting and HR matters in our organisation. We decided to choose JWW Accounting Office for it and we've been working with them since 2018.

JWW is a team of reliable experts who not only does bookkeeping, but also deals, among other things, with fixed asset records and employee benefits accounting. Mrs. Ania, our main contact, responds to our questions extraordinarily quickly and efficiently addresses all the requests from our side. We can count on her in any situation. We recommend using JWW services as it is an office with really broad horizons!

Sincerely,

Adrian Zamorski
